RON CEDILLOS
PRESIDENT
CEDILLOS TESTING COMPANY

Ron Cedillos is currently president of the Cedillos Testing Company, a commercial testing firm that is part of the Los Angeles-area aerospace industry.

Cedillos is a professional martial arts expert and used his athletic talents to pursue a motion picture career. Among his film credits is his involvement as an actor and technical advisor in "Breaker, Breaker."

Prior to owning the Cedillos Testing Company, he was a partner with Chuck Norris in a chain of karate and martial arts training studios.

He is a long-term supporter of youth organizations, serving many years as a director and officer of the Los Angeles Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

In recognition of his contributions to scouting in the Los Angeles area, the Council and the University of Pepperdine joined to honor Cedillos by presenting him with an honorary Doctorate of Philanthropy.
